

SELECTADNA™

DNA FORENSIC MARKING

Product Support information

A reminder of how the system works:

The idea of the product is to

- a) Mark all your property,
- b) Put up your warning labels, and
- c) Register your SelectaDNA 'SEL Code' against your own details.

By doing all three things, you will ensure that your property is less attractive to thieves, and if anything is stolen and recovered by the Police they will be able to link it back to you.

Registration:

Postal registration - currently this is the only option for registration. Posting the completed form (QC131) back to Selectamark puts your details on the secure database and they are therefore available for the Police to check should property be recovered. Postal registration will always be available.

The online registration database should be up and running in around 6-8 weeks and will also enable owners also to keep an online log of their individual items (this latter is an added feature, but by no means critical to the effectiveness of the product).

The 'User record of marked items' sheet with marine kits:

This is to help owners keep a record of their items of property; it is not essential for these items to be recorded on the database as any property found marked up will be returned to the address given in the initial registration.

What is different about the marine kit compared to the home kit?

The marine kit contains more durable warning labels for the marine environment, and also has the 'User record of marked items' sheet to help owners keep a record of their own property.

Can I use my marine kit at home as well?

The registration system links your unique code against your boat in a boatyard, so whilst you could use it at home too, it is helpful if the two are not mixed up.

How long will my product last?

The bottle of solution has a 'use by' date, normally up to 12 months ahead, provided it is stored in a cool, dark place away from direct sunlight.

What is the connection between LV= Streetwise and SelectaDNA?

LV= Streetwise is a safety education charity acting as the distributor for some SelectaDNA products produced by Selectamark. The charity has been allowed to make bulk purchases of home and marine kits and re-sell them at reduced prices whilst still making a small profit towards the charity's running costs.
